Almco Model V-26 TFS shown with recirculating rust inhibit spray hood and supply tank.
Almco thru-feed machines are integrated with media handling systems including an oscillating parts-media separator. Which features a secondary "fines" screen deck for continuous removal of undersized media and a media return conveyor for complete automatic processing of high production parts.

Thru-feed machines are ideally suited for high volume, short-cycle de-burring and finishing of castings, stampings, and forgings.

These machines are excellent to incorporate with optional automatic parts load and unloading mechanisms for increased efficiencies.

Parts may be fed into the machine at short intervals, direct from preceding operations. Systems are ideally suited for incorporating washer, dryer, or rust inhibiting operations.

Machines may also be equipped to process parts using steel, ceramic, or plastic media.
